Caring for you

Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court, set in spacious grounds in leafy Sindlesham, Berkshire, provides residential care, nursing care, nursing dementia care and residential dementia support. We can support up to 45 residents with permanent care or short stay respite breaks.

Here at Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court, you will have a spacious, fully furnished bedroom with an en-suite bathroom and a dedicated team to support your care needs.

Among other features, you can also enjoy:

- The latest assistive technologies and design across the Home
- A variety of communal rooms, including café bar, lounges, dining rooms and private dining
- An on-site hair salon where you can arrange a visit to the hairdresser's.

“The care that mum receives is amazing; she is regularly checked on and always with such care and attention.

Daughter of a resident,

What you can enjoy

We work with you to create a care plan that meets your needs. We're here to help you live the life you want, knowing that support is on-hand if you need it, day and night.

Fresh homemade food

Our varied menu changes regularly to give you a wide range of delicious meal options and a balanced diet. However, tasty and healthy meals are only one part of our dining experience. Great service by staff who genuinely care is just as pivotal, whether it is our on-site chef team blending the finest flavours or our care staff making time for a friendly word as they serve. Our dining service is designed to provide residents with meals they can look forward to.

There's something for everyone

At Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court, we believe that keeping active both mentally and physically allows our residents to experience wellbeing. That's why we provide a myriad of activities for them to enjoy:

- Arts and crafts
- Gardening
- Cooking and baking
- Musical entertainments
- Cinema nights
- Visits from local schoolchildren

We can also support you to continue enjoying your own hobbies and interests, and we are confident we'll have something that's just right for you.

Invite family and friends

There are many indoor and outdoor spaces where you can host events with your loved ones. We can help to plan private get-togethers or special occasions at the Home if you wish.

Types of care

Making the decision to move into a care home doesn't have to be difficult. We're here to support you every step of the way.

Residential care

Residential care is provided for people who can no longer continue to live at home. It can help them to live safely, whilst giving their family peace of mind, knowing that you are in a supportive environment. We can accommodate up to 25 people with residential care.

Nursing care

Our nurses are trained to deliver a more specialist level of support, which promotes health and wellbeing. This type of care is for anyone who requires 24 hours support from a Registered Nurse. We can support up to 20 people with nursing care.

Nursing dementia care

If your loved one lives with dementia and has additional nursing needs, we may be able to support them at Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court. Nursing dementia care provides support for those residents living with dementia, delivered by registered nurses with dementia experience. Subject to assessment, a resident that requires nursing dementia care will have a diagnosis of dementia as well as physical nursing needs.

Residential dementia support

Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court offers a residential dementia support service for up to 25 people. We believe that people living with dementia can still lead an active and fulfilled life, so we aim to start from a position of 'what a person can do' and how we can support them.

We work with each resident, their family and loved ones to explore what is important to them, and try where possible to incorporate this into their lives from a holistic approach. We invest in our caring staff members and ensure they have the necessary skills to care for and support our residents living with dementia.

Short stay and respite care

Short stay breaks, including respite care, are available to people who are cared for in their own homes. They allow families or carers to have a rest from taking care of a loved one and allows a person to enjoy different activities and socialise with others.

Palliative care

Caring for someone during the final days of their life requires specialist skills and understanding. We are committed to making sure that our end of life care respects and upholds a person's dignity.

Using the latest technology

We use advanced software to record our medication processes easily. Our staff have access to our residents' profiles and care plans, and add progress notes and specific records as necessary.

Our electronic devices can also be used to convert speech into text, enabling our residents, their families and professionals to "have a voice" within the care planning process.

One loving family

What makes Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court special is the stories of our beloved residents and caring staff members. Together, they make this Home a place where people become friends, and friends become family.

At Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court, you can meet residents like Les, who enjoyed a life-changing flight. Accompanied by Activities Coordinator Sharon and two more residents, he explored the local area from the skies, marvelling at the views of rolling hills and majestic woodlands. Sharon said: "I am so delighted the residents had a fun day. I am extremely proud of them all, having the courage and determination to try something new, no matter the age."

“ I like to try different things. However, I never thought that at this stage of my life, being 84 and with just one leg, I would be able to experience this.

Resident Les at Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court.

You can also pick up a new skill like residents Wendy, Beryl, Angela and Gladys, who learned how to combine colours and shapes to create impressive cushions.

Thanks to the latch hooking technique, which they learned at the Home's needlework workshop, they used a special hook to hoop the yarn, pull it through the canvas and make unique designs.

“ I am giving the cushions to my daughters and to another resident as presents. This next one will be for me because I want one to put in my room!

Culture and vision

Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court is operated and managed by The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution Care Company (RMBI Care Co.) It is also regulated by Care Inspectorate Wales (CIW).

RMBI Care Co. provides residential care, nursing care and residential dementia support to older Freemasons, their families and people in the wider community. We have been caring for older people for over 180 years and today, we support over 1,000 residents across 17 care homes in England and Wales with a focus on wellbeing and quality outcomes.

We treat each person as an individual. We believe that everyone should be able to enjoy later life and we are here to help our residents stay as independent as possible. Above all, we live by our three core values – kind, supportive and trusted. RMBI Care Co. is part of the Masonic Charitable Foundation.

The Association of Friends

The Association of Friends are independent charities made up of volunteers, which exist to support each of our care homes.

The Home's Association of Friends works closely with Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh Court, supporting residents and staff by organising events and fundraising for different activities to help enhance our residents' lives.
